ing the return, deducting for interest paid, etc., was strictly according to law, so that the other charges entirely tell to the ground.
If exception be taken to Sinnott's letter on the ground that it does not con-tain a statement of the several items tain a statement of the several items upon which the return of 1892 was made, it is proper to state that the regulations of the Department did not require such declared statements. Very few professional men made such statements or could now recall the items, or have kept the memorandum upon which their returns were made, in his letter, Judge Sinnott says he was in Tilden's law office during the whole period covered by the allegation of the Times, and was more familiar than any other person, than Tilden himself, with his professional service and the earnings of his office, it being his duty among others to keep such records as were preserved. He declares the Times' statement false in every important particular.

Great Reunion at Indianapolis.

By American Press Association to the STAH. CHICAGO, Sept. 21 .- The weather at planation regarding the charges against Indianapolis to-day was not favorable for the Veteran Soldiers' Convention, is published to-day in the form of a letter dated New York, Sept. 20, 1876, by Judge James P. Sinnott, addressed to Mr. Hewett, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

The explanation is accompanied with a card to publishers by Mr. Hewett, in which is contained all essential points of the letter. He refers to the atlacks of the New York Times against Tilden in making charges of having made a false statement of his income in 1802, and says he tried but failed to obtain from the Secretary certificate copies of the Income returns of both Tilden and Hayes for that year.

He then addressed a note to Judge Sinnott, who was the confidential law clerk of Gov. Tilden during the whole period in which the law imposing an income tax was in force, requesting him to examine the printed account of Tilden's income during 1862, published by the Times, and formished him. Sinnott's answer shows that out of thirteen pretended items of income amounting to $100,000, eleven items, amounting to $84,000, are wholly fictitious, while of the other two only one of $1,000 is entirely true, and the second of $2,500 is only partially true.

There is therefore no ground for the assertion that the sworn income was not just and accurate. The manner of mak.

When he spoke about being "cashier," Steve Mead, who had taken the straid for a swear in the case, couldn't star.

for a swear in the case, couldn't stay there for laughing. He stepped down and doubled up like a jack-knile. "Why my friend," said the Judge, "you plend guilty to the charge. And worse, too; you just now make a statement that puts you down as a common gambler. I could give you a sentence of ninety days and fine you $500. But I'll led you off this time with ten days in the Work-house;" and the burly duffer hooked as though he'd stepped on a tack. And out he goes to be stripped of his handsome harness and flung in the big bath tub like a pig-just like a common vag with a hickory shirt. When he gets out he'll "shoot this blawsted country and break for Hengland," he says.

coal to the City Water-works.

A communication was received from Patrick Leary, contractor for stonework at Columbia avenue culvert, Crawfish Creek, representing that material to complete the work is on the ground, and has been since last July; and that he would like to be allowed to finish the work, thus giving employment to many laborers. Referred to the Committee on Columbia Avenue Improvement.
